funded by the European Social Fund and Learning and Skills Council.

This regional programme, offered by ACER in collaboration with North Herts College, will be delivered through blended learning. It will consist of 6 one-day workshops together with 30 hours of directed learning. Participants will also be required to successfully complete four assignments to achieve the full Award. Tutorial support will be available throughout.

An opportunity for colleagues to gain the full award, the course is open to any teacher in the lifelong learning sector who has a recognised, generic teaching qualification. We would particularly welcome applications from Skills for Life teachers / teacher educators who are interested in delivering the qualification themselves in the future.

Facilitators:

Bob Read (ACER)

Naomi Horrocks (ACER)

Caroline Nash (North Herts College)
